A Battle for Life – My Journey After a Brainstem Stroke

My name is Bartosz, and on January 10th, my life changed forever.

It was an ordinary day. I was at home, working on my computer when suddenly—a strange sensation took over my body. In an instant, I lost control. I didn't know it yet, but I was experiencing a stroke.

Thanks to the incredible speed and professionalism of emergency medical services, I survived. Later, doctors confirmed the terrifying diagnosis: a brainstem stroke—one of the most dangerous kinds. Many don't wake up, and those who do often face severe disabilities.

But I Refused to Give Up!

The stroke paralyzed the right side of my body. I could see my arm, but I couldn't move it. I felt trapped in my own body. Doctors warned me: first, I might not survive. If I did, I might never move again. If I recovered, I'd need a wheelchair. Taking a step alone? Impossible.

But I erased those limits one by one.

Every day, I train—one hour of strength exercises, another of manual training for precision, and speech therapy with Dr. Klaudiusz Czubac. Step by step, I fight for my life back.

After a month in the hospital and three weeks of rehabilitation, I stood on my own two feet. I took my first steps. I spoke my first words. My progress shocked even the doctors.

I am a fighter. My goal is not just to walk—I want to run.

This battle is not just mine. It belongs to everyone who stood by me—my incredible wife Magda, my employer JFC, my colleagues, and the amazing medical professionals guiding me.

I will never give up. And if I ever fall? I'll get up, shake off the dust, and keep going.
